

Dr. N.L. Dongre

Dr N. L. Dongre, the spark of genius, the inner fire, and most important thing mankind possesses. He is a fountain of energy. The mind, talent, and creativity he brings to his life and the live of people he love. When any one learns to tape this source, will truly has defeated. As Bertrand Russell said- Good Nature is, of all moral qualities, the one that the word needs most, and good nature is the result of ease and security, not of a life of arduous struggle. This is evidently approved for Dongre.

He depicts the way some people write their Genre. The delineation, finished or not, are the pages of his reflections, and as such they are valid. The future will choose the pages it prefers. It's not up to him to make the choice. There is a impression that the time is spreading on past him more and more rapidly. He is like a river that rolls on. It's the movement of depiction of his interests; the dramatic movement from one effort to the next, even if those efforts is perhaps not pushed to their ultimate end. In some of his interest, can say with certainty that the effort has been brought to its full weight and its conclusion, because there he has been able to stop the flow of time around him. He has less and less time, and yet he has more and more to say, and what he has to say is, increasingly, something about what goes on in the movement of his thoughts. He has reached the moment, you see, when the movement of his thought, interests him more than the thought itself. He works hard and his writing looks pretty impressive. His limitless ability to weave time and space does make him marvelous.

He doesn't just want success for himself; he wants his success to benefit others. His Life's a book filled on pages, host waiting to be written. Some don't open it for aeon, may be afraid of being bitten. He is a good person on his own, and a good person with everyone. Where the space between he feels uncomplicated and happy. A good relationship is where things just work. They work because, whatever the list of qualities, whatever the reason, he happen to be really, really good together. Positive expectations are the mark of the superior personality. It is personality an unbroken series of successful gestures, then there is something gorgeous about him, some heightened sensitivity to the promises of life. This responsiveness had nothing to do with that flabby, impressionability which is dignified under the name of the creative temperament it was an extraordinary gift for hope, a readiness such as never found in any other person and which it is not likely shall ever find again. He is —one of those people who pride themselves in on their willpower, on their ability to make a decision and carry it through. This virtue, like most virtues, is ambiguity itself. People who believe that they are strong-willed and the masters of their destiny can only continue to believe this by becoming specialists in self-deception. His decisions are not really decisions at all—a real decision makes him humble, he knows that it is at the mercy of more things than can be named—but elaborate systems of evasion, of illusion, designed to make themselves and the world appear to be what they and the world are not. He is a man of excellence go the extra mile to do what's right. Excellence is the Result of Caring more than others think is Wise, Risking more than others think is Safe, Dreaming more than others think is Practical, and Expecting more than others think is Possible. To seek greatness is the only righteous vengeance. As Aristotle said -Excellence is a habit' It would say furthermore that excellence is made constant through the feeling that comes right after he has completed a work which he himself finds undeniably awe-inspiring. He only wants to relax until he's ready to renew such a feeling all over again because to him, all else has become absolutely trivial. He is one of those people who pride themselves in on their willpower, on their ability to make a decision and carry it through. This virtue, like most virtues, is ambiguity itself. He believes that they are strong-willed and the masters of their, destiny can only continue to believe this by becoming specialists in self-deception. His decisions are not really decisions at all—a real decision makes one humble, one knows that it is at the mercy of more things than can be named—but elaborate systems of evasion. He develops enough emotional energy inside himself to create Human. Humankind's greatest gift is that we are in determinate beings pliable. The act of writing involves documenting and studiously examining interactions of all aspects of the flow of life. He asserts that Faith does not need to push the river because faith is able to trust that there is river. The river is flowing. We are in it". He is very fact for him that writers are made, they are not born (Chris Mentillo) His writing is an illustrious act of self-expression. He is a person who; magnanimously exhibits their passion allow to witness their authentic personality whereas a cold and calculating personality remains inscrutable.

His extraordinary claims provide extraordinary evidence. He bears the poet like sentiments; poetry is 'just the evidence of life. If your life is burning well, poetry is just the ash. His writing is comprehensive self-investigatory scroll, attempts to weave a network of strands capable of enmeshing all sizes of ideas including those with no obvious interconnection.

Dr Dongre is without question one of the most productive and most brilliant figure of our age, Earth Scientist, Geomorphologist, Tectonic Geomorphologist, Human Scientist, and Literary person. There is probably no figure who has dominated the intellectual world so long, so contentiously, and as courageously as Dr. Dongre. In Scholarly circles he has won great acclaim through his Publication. In India however, Dr. Dongre is perhaps most remembered for his work on Tribes of Bastar particularly Abujmarh, for Dr. Dongre acquired popularity. He is a collector of reflections looking for souls that could see deeply his soul: His Says-My Journey to the land of the Maria tribe had taught me the important of practical gifts. His Enlighten mind always grows to all immolate other truths.

Because of Dr. Dongre's unequalled fame acquired through his profile writings and his outspoken words, though recognizing Dongre's great talents and accomplishment. Like most of his generation, he is brought up the saying "Atta Dipo Bhava" Being a highly virtuous man he believed all that he was told, and acquired a conscience which has kept him working hard down to the present moment. But although his conscience has controlled his actions his opinions have under gone a natural process.

Where the space between he feels un complicated and happy. His brilliant ideas are like baby in mother's womb. Brilliance of the brain he admired more than beauty of the body. He got words in him, just fighting to find a way out. His feelings are memories, memories are also feelings. It is not what the man of earth science believes that distinguishes him, out how and why he believes it. He is quiet as deep rivers run quiet. His passion meets work, and his work becomes a hobby. He Likes Geomorphology best. Because the mountains and rivers know the secret. Pay no attention to boundaries. Geomorphology is his destiny. Dreams are his only geomorphology- his native land. He always concentrated why Nobel laureate Herman Hesse said in his novel Siddhartha- 'The River is everywhere'.

He wants to be the best version of himself for anyone who is going to someday walk into his life and need someone to love him beyond reason. He says- A man must find time for himself. Time is what we spend our lives with. If we are not careful we find others spending it for us. It is necessary now and then for a man to go away by himself and experience loneliness; to sit on a rock in the forest and to ask of himself, who am I, and where have I been, and where am I going....

And here it is appropriate to acknowledge the wonderful mind and pioneering work of Dr. Dongre related to mathematics. It seems to me that mathematic is capable of an artistic excellence as great as that of any method for obtaining convergent: calculation and table of logarithms. This mathematics is associated with a more refined type of error. He substituted mathematics for experiments. One cannot deny that mathematical formulas have an independent existence and an intelligence of their own. The essence of his mathematics is not to make simple things complicated but to make complicated things simple. His method of presentation exhibits order, symmetry, and limitation; and these are the greatest forms of the beautiful. His papers are written in the language of mathematics and indeed it is remarkable to the extent in which science notions as octaves, chords, scale, and key can all be demystified and understood logically using simple mathematics. It is easy to take help of this quote to summarize the profound new way of thinking that Dr Dongre realized "Mathematics, rightly viewed, possesses not only truth, but supreme beauty—a beauty cold and austere, like that of sculpture, without appeal to any part of our weaker nature, without the gorgeous trappings of painting or music, yet sublimely pure, and capable of a stern perfection such as only the greatest art can show." (Bertrand Russell) Mathematics is an ever evolving language for study of reality. He explained tectonic geomorphology and other research through sheer intellectual curiosity to levels of abstraction. Dr Dongre has found by experience that putting things down on paper helped to clear the mind in precisely the same way, strayed from the right path. He has his own laboratory for conducting various research experiments related to Tectonic Geomorphology and Fluvial Geomorphology. Dr Dongre is very interesting and very informative about the problem of modern methods of experiments and how they can be solved by the functioning of the object it contains.

A multiple personality, an humane like gravity, seeing beyond the words spoken out of pain, and instead seeing a person's soul; an excellent and brave Police officer. President of India Dr APJ Abdul Kalam said about him:- 'a man of genius and leisure and may carry the method to greater perfection, but having had long experience.... Decorated with President's Police Medal for Distinguished Services, President's Home Guards and Civil Defense Medal for distinguished services. As well as recipients of Gallantry medal and Police Medal for Meritorious Services. He has written Books on Crime against women, and forensic Science. He argued well in UNO with the brightest views related to crime against women. An eminent Earth Scientist with original ideas, possesses love of learning the sequestered books, and all the sweet serenity of books. A distinction which gratified him as much as he deserved and conferred Doctor of Letters Degree (after his PhD) on unparalleled research in Tectonic Geomorphology. Reading and writing is his passion and he is an ambitious, more thoughtful, confident and imminent author of 125 articles related to geomorphology, Human Science, and less acknowledged tribes of Bastar, India. He wrote 70 research papers with laboratory experiments. Sir Philip A. Allen, quoted about him -. ‘There are some souls, bright and precious, which, like He, are pure and solid as diamond, which may be shivered to pieces, yet in every fragment retain their indelible characteristics. Positive expectations are mark of his superior personality.’ It’s a good thing when he was invited by Royal Geographical Society, London to deliver a lecture in Imperial College, London on the Maria Tribe of Bastar. The greatest thing is that he is a Fellow of Royal Geographical Society of London, Fellow of British Society for Geomorphology, Fellow of Geological Society of London, and Fellow of Geological Society of America. Every time he says- ‘Earth, my dearest, oh believe me, you no longer need your springtime to win me over...Unspeakably, and I have belonged to you, from the flush. He wants to be the best version of himself anyone who is going to Someday walk into his life and need someone to love others beyond reason. The inner fire is most important which he possesses strongly. He writes to taste life twice, in the moment and retrospect. He live and breaths words. He is a word smith and honed the words with perfection there is no doubt that the seeds of knowledge are within him like fire in flint.

When word becomes unclear, he focuses with photographs. When image becomes inadequate, he contents with silence it really pleasant that he smile with his eyes shut. His belief is so passionate that it fills him with the burning desire to shear his fabulous news with anyone who will listen very excellent and worthy person, thoroughly reliable is every particular. He is a artistic painter of his success. Paint himself day-by-day, into the master piece of excellence he wants on the canvas of life. He is the Sculptor of his success. Chisel and carve him in to excellence.

It is hold that a strongly marked personality Dr Dongre may influence descendants for generations. Positive expectations are the mark of the He was so much the picture of different kinds of assimilation that it was almost a case of multiple personalities. He is the smartest and best-read person any of us had every known, but he wore his learning so lightly and had such curiosity about other people that he had the ability to make everyone around him feel smart and well-read.

Prof. Ashoke Sen.